How quickly time goes by

Our first days at Lowell High School were unforgettable. During freshman year we made new friends, tried to find our way around, attempted to get to classes on time, and finding a place to eat at lunch was the all-time hardest thing to do. Being in clusters helped reduce the overwhelming feeling of beginning at such a large place. As we walked through the tunnels, we looked in amazement at the upperclassmen who seemed so much older & bigger. As freshman, no one expected us to be mature, so this was a time to be stupid, funny, or just plain immature. After the first marking period, we seemed to settle in to our own, ready to take on school for the next four years.

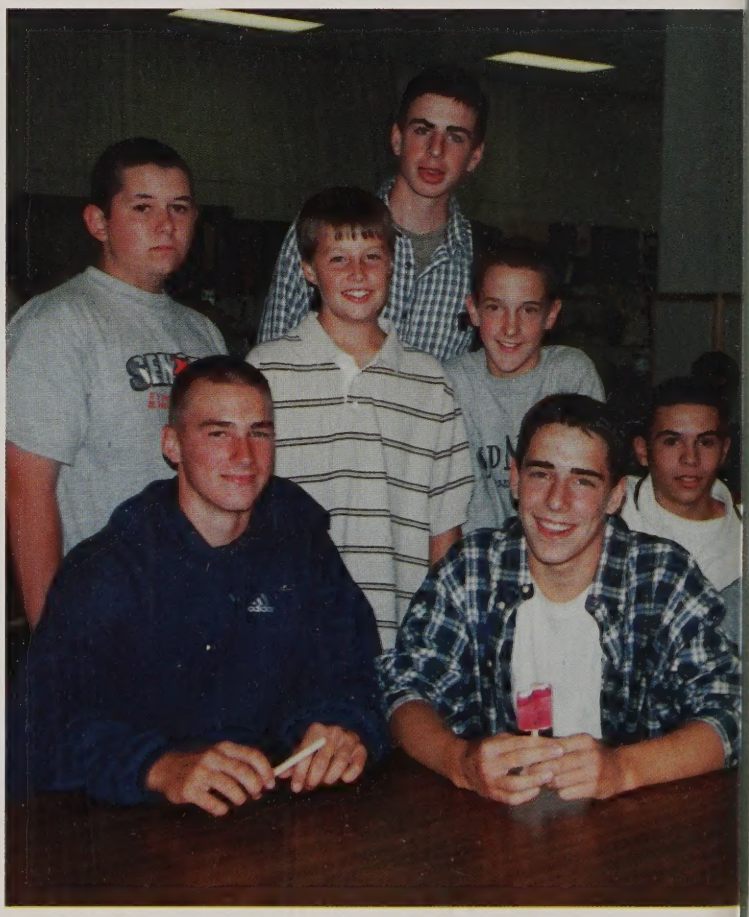
CATCHING UP
Reacquainting after the summer Nate Ralls, Eric Strong, Kim Sullivan, Ryan Keefe, Bobby Silva, Peter Cavanaugh, Cassandra Pergakis, Heidi Kiloski & Elise Clay talk about the upcomming school year.

FINISHING UP
All done with their sandwiches, these girls can't wait for school to end. All freshman ate lunch together. By 2001, lunch mods were overcrowded and were held every other 25 minutes, making national headlines.

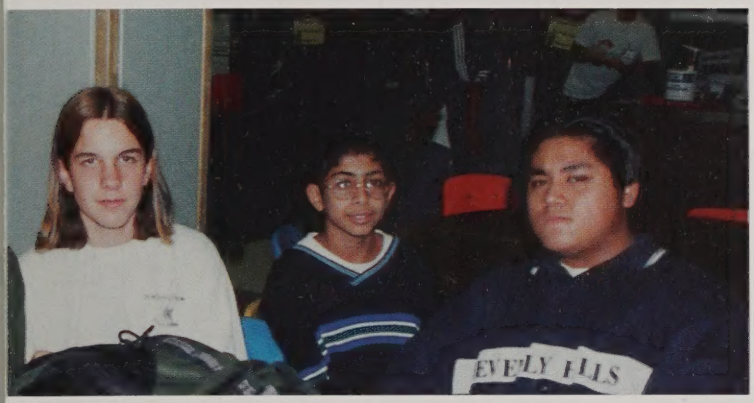
STRIKE A POSE
Playing around during their lunch, Michaela McGuane, Kerry Murphy, Samantha Leibold, Amy Greenwood, Kristin Wedge & Amy Vaillancourt have some fun before going back to their cluster.

LUNCH TIME BUDDIES
Finding time to chat, Sophanna, Makara Vann, Srey Leak, Nancy, Ratry Keothosone & Rinda leave the guy out of the conversation.

A CROWDED TABLE
After cleaning their plates & table, these freshman boys crowd around to enjoy an after lunch snack. The school store provided candy & gifts for all.

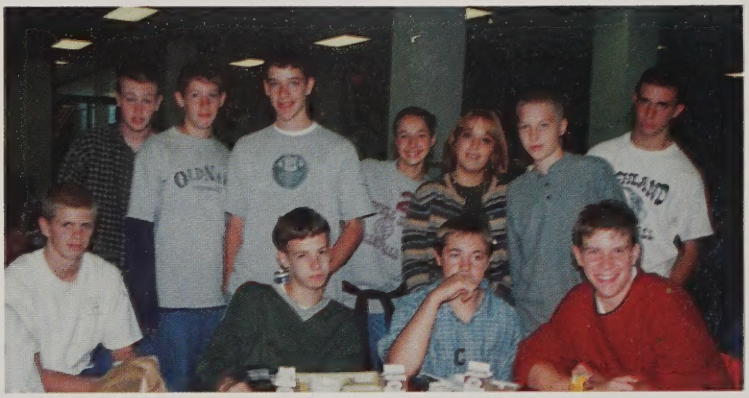


NO TIME TO EAT
With 25 mintues to get the food down, Sean Rohrer looks to be done with his meal, as he chats with friends.



GREAT FRIENDS
Hanging out with the buds, Jeff Gallo, Mike McAtamney, Estrella Kuilan, Kaliyan & Nemith Xaysongkham laugh about how their classes are going thusfar.

TIME TO CLEAN UP
Sitting down with their trays, students look over what is left of their meal. A variety of hot/cold foods are available including hamburgers & hot dogs with french fries, a favorite of most!



MMM...ICE CREAM
Enjoying his treat from the snack bar, Charlie Boggio bites into a Nutty Buddy. The snack bar offered creamy treats or crunchy chips for those little cravings now and again.

OUTSIDE THE STORE
Just back from a 1826 School Store purchase, Daria Lebron, Michael Quinones, Charleen Negron, Leanie Rivera & Rosie Santana decide how to spend the few remaining minutes.

Nervous about attending our first formal dance, freshmen students jam the Thomas Murphy Cafeteria in early spring…

After revelers ate to their stomach's content, they were off to the dance floor. YOU TALKIN' TO ME
Senior Tyrone Adams checks you out!

In Memory of

Jose A. Rivera

1984-2001

In your sixteen years that were cut too short,
you touched many lives.
It is hard for us to say goodbye to you,
so young & very much loved.
As a son, brother, student, classmate, friend or teammate,
you have been a part of some of the best times and always will be a part of the memories that we,
as a class, will carry with us after our high school years.
It is so sad that a tragic accident
took you away from us too soon,
but be reassured you will never be forgotten,
and will always be a loved part of the Class of 2002.
All of the memories of your victories on the field,
your smile and laughter while hanging out with friends, will remain with us.
To you, Jose,
we dedicate this page to look back on the past three years.
Not to shed a tear because you are not with us now,
but to smile and reminisce about when you were here.

Crew & Golf finish successful seasons

For the first time, the Lowell High School Golf team captured the MVC Title. The team had an excellent season finishing 14-2-0, with three strong wins on the road to end the season and clinch the title. After the regular season ended, the team advanced to states and finished 4th in the Division 1 North Tournament. The 4th Place finish qualified the team for the State Tournament, placing 10th. The team was led by All Conference members Patrick Moriarty and Joey Miller and All-Star members Chris Osborn and Mike Dillon.

Taking to the water, crew members had a successful season racing in just 3 events. At the Textile River Regatta in Lowell, the team put 5 boats on the river. The NH Championships Regatta also saw three boats in the races. The training and effort put into each race is intense. Not only do rowers have to be in excellent physical condition, the conditions on the water need to be ideal. As stated by Stephanie Mood, "You need a lot of dedication and committment to the sport and the team." Hard work does pay off.

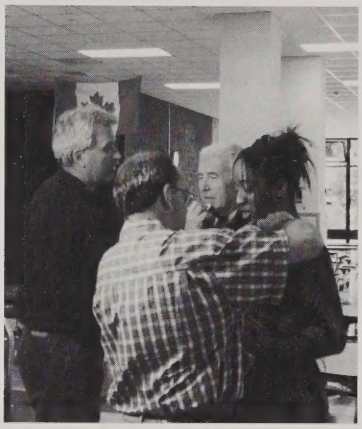
Did you cringe when you were called down to your house office? Were you tardy? Did you cut a class? Were you constantly forgetting that ID Badge? If you answered YES to any of these questions, then you must have met your Housemaster! With you throughout your four years, your housemaster probably played a vital role in your life while at LHS.

Called to the Main Office

Headmaster William J. Samaras hams it up with DJ Skribble.



Getting national coverage, Mr. Samaras glams up with Student Government President Jai Thompson.

Accepting a gift from Anna Mairos, Mr. Samaras supports students in many ways.

Joined by Superintendent Karla Brooks Baehr & Massachusetts State Senate President Tom Birmingham, Headmaster Samaras shows off his school.

Dr. David Moorehouse

Around the building

Colleen Creegan Library/Media Center Staff

Helping students find vital information is a daunting task, just ask Kathy McDonnell, Karen Kassin & Pat Taupier. In the Library Media Center, students can find just about anything, thanks to the staff. A new addition to the library staff was the return of Jody O'Hearn in early November.
